WON BOTH GAMES.

The Maysvilles Came Very Near Shutting the Irontons Out Yesterday.

The second game between Maysville and Ironton was a complete walkover for the former. Had it not been for a very foolish play on the part of Nie in the last half of the ninth inning the visitors would have sustained a Waterloo.

Wellner twirled for Maysville and had the Irontons at his mercy. During the five innings he pitched only one little, miserably little, hit was all the visitors ould make off of him. The locals put up a magnificent and erroriess game during his stay in the box.

Wellner used all the deception he had at command. He sent some of them over the rubber like chained lightning on a greased track, while others were so slow you could count the seams on the ball and read Spalding's trade-mark plainly. During Wellner's administration only one ball went outside the diamond, and that was Conners's single in the fifth. Wadsworth, on account of Wellner's arm feeling sore, went in to finish the game. Henry had both speed and command, and the two hits the visitors got off his delivery were made after a chance to shut them out was offered. Lauderbach pitched for Ironton, and was an easy mark for the locals, especially Cox, who touched him up for four at short. He had eight chances, one of them being a sensational running catch, and accepted them all in clever style. Wadsworth played third again for five innings and got everything that came in his territory.

Cox, with the exception of a ball, which was almost an excusable error, played a great game at first. Frank's throw to the plate from center in the eighth inning was the feature of

The locals took all the starch out of the the throw. Frank pilfered second. Rog-ers singled into right and took second on a bad throw in, Frank scoring. Cox sent a daisy cutter past short for a bag and Rogers took third and scored on a passed ball. Nie lifted one into right for a double and Cox scored. Wadsworth went out at first. Hill bunted and reached first on Lauderbach's low throw. Cake missed three inshoots. Hill stole second. Davis hit a hot one past second for a base and Nie and Hill scored. Wellner singled into left for a corner. Davis was caught napping at third and run down. A single, two errors and a wild throw gave Maysville two more tallies in the second.

A BAD ACCIDENT.

Henry Smith, Jr., Loses One of His Fingers.

Henry Smith, Jr., who drives the dray for Ernie White, met with quite a severe accident this morning about 8 o'clock on

He was engaged in unloading a large paving stone, the kind they are putting down on Market street, together with several other workmen. One of the workmen had a crowbar under one end holding it up while Mr. Smith removed a block upon which the stone was resting on the dray.

In some unaccountable manner the holt of the crowbar slipped, letting the weight of stone down upon the middle finger of Mr. Smith's right hand, mashing it so severely as to necessitate amputation at the first knuckle joint.

Mr. Smith was taken to Dr. Pangburn's ffice, where his injury was attended to.
The accident will keep him from work-
